

ENVIRONMENTAL LAWS & LICENSING

GET UP TO SPEED ON NEW ENVIRONMENTAL LAWS & LICENCE COMPLIANCE MANAGEMENT

Organised by:

Baker McKenzie.

10 AUGUST 2017, SYDNEY

Do you manage an Environment Protection Licence (EPL)? This seminar and workshop will bring you up to speed on how to best manage your EPL.

This seminar will review recent changes to NSW environmental laws including the Load Based Licensing Review and other proposed changes covering contaminated land, licensing and pollution law changes. It will also cover the many other environmental requirements have been tied to the EPL, such as the Risk Based Licensing system, website monitoring data publishing and Pollution Incident Response Management Plans (PIRMP). EPL holders are also exposed if too many neighbours complain. Pollution Reduction Programs or Monitoring Network requirements can be also imposed as a result. To help sites better manage their EPL this seminar and workshop covers the following:

- ✓ Overview of Environmental Protection Licenses a legal overview
- ✓ Load Based Licensing and the implications of its review
- ✓ The regulator's advice on compliance and managing your EPL
- ✓ A license holders tips and issues in managing your EPL
- ✓ Overview, advice and tips on the Risk Based Licensing program
- ✓ Impacts of facing the $15,000 Penalty Infringement Notices
- ✓ Where do you need a license what are the thresholds and recent changes
- \checkmark License conditions, what are they and which ones are most important to focus on
- ✓ Monitoring under your license → how to get the most from monitoring
- Preventing and managing complaints from neighbours
- ✓ Immediate reporting of pollution incidents and PIRMP use
- ✓ How to negotiate changes to your EPL conditions
