

ENVIRONMENTAL COMPLIANCE: LICENSING & PLANNING CONSENT

Organised by:

Sponsored by:

26 JULY 2018, SYDNEY

This seminar will review the many environmental legal obligations on holders of Environment Protection Licences (EPL) with the EPA and others, such as the Risk Based Licensing system, website monitoring data publishing and Pollution Incident Response Management Plans (PIRMP), expected compliance and future regulatory changes. It will also explore the compliance requirements by the Department of Planning and Environment in relation to Planning Consent conditions and how this aligns with EPA's compliance programs for EPL compliance. To help sites better manage their EPL ASBG offers this seminar and workshop covering the following:

- ✓ The regulator's advice on compliance and managing your EPL
- ✓ Department of Planning's approach to Consent conditions compliance requirements
- ✓ Know your planning consent conditions including
- ✓ Overview of Environmental Protection Licenses — a legal overview
- ✓ Balancing planning consent and environmental licence conditions and new requirements
- ✓ A license holders' tips and issues in managing your site's EPL and environmental conditions
- ✓ Dealing with Pollution Reduction Programs and application of newer environmental criteria
- ✓ Working with the regulator to achieve a better level of compliance
- ✓ What are the thresholds for EPLs and what to do if you are likely to exceed your EPL threshold
- ✓ License conditions, what are they and which ones are most important
- ✓ Monitoring under your license → how to get the most from monitoring
- ✓ Preventing and managing complaints from neighbours
- ✓ Immediate reporting of pollution incidents and PIRMP use
- ✓ How to negotiate changes to your EPL and planning conditions
